

To-Do-at-Home Tuning-In Plan (for Stage 1 and Stage 2)

Tuning in to different points of view

Think of an activity that you can do this week with your child, in which you can compare different points of view. (For example, grocery shopping, getting a meal ready, getting dressed, or playing with toy animals.)

This week I plan to do the following activity with my child:

I think that my child will have the following opinion: (e.g., something he might want for dinner)

I will introduce a different point of view by: (e.g., suggest something different that a family member might want for dinner)

Some comments I can make are:

A question I can ask is:

Capitalize the words that you will stress  and show .
